Short description and skills

I am a designer, developer and human-technology interaction specialist with a broad expertise in both designing and developing web and mobile applications. In addition, I have master degree level experience in participatory design and research. I have a special place in my heart for intuitive applications that 'just work'. To accomplish this I apply my knowledge of cognitive psychology and my passion for design to achieve the optimal combination of usability, engagement and aesthetics.

I am skilled in graphic and interaction design (Sketch, Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign), front-end development (responsive HTML5, CSS3/SASS, Javascript: React, React-Native, Angular 1.5, jQuery, PHP), and capable in NodeJS back-end development (ExpressJS and NoSQL MongoDB).

Leisure

I have a great interest in music: playing guitar, bass guitar and some drums. Also, I love to travel the globe.
